

Complete Stocks

OF

Rubber Shoes

While the world this season, but we believe there is no more complete than can be found elsewhere. So, if you want rubber shoes are not to be found in the world. All rubber shoes are higher than they have ever been, but our early customers have enabled us to keep most of our stock down to just what we need.

We can show little of 3 years and the make of No. 1 and all intermediate sizes.

The same time, trouble and money by coming to us for your Rubber Shoes and more.

Jersey Legging

For children, men and women.

H. ANDERSON & CO.

QUEEN QUALITY...

Heavy Sole Shoes

Are not the Thing
For His Weather.

Burnet & Quarles

PAID HEADED CLUB

Members Attend With Ex-Mr.
John McKee in the Chair.

Col. Bamberger, President of
How By Making a Speech a
Year Too Soon.

for the election of officers Saturday night at low midnight.

In the absence of both the President and Vice President, Col. Leavelle H. McKee was by general consent called to preside, as the senior ex-President present. The reappearance of Col. McKee in the chair so long delayed was the signal for an outburst of applause that shook up things worse than Fox-right's vote shook up the city administration last month.

Col. McKee acknowledged the compliment with one of those winning smiles of his, that began at the dimple between his double-chin and spread itself all over his jolly countenance, attached itself to his broad expanse of brow and face disappeared in the region of his neck collar-button.

He lost no time in calling the meeting to order, and at once recognized Col. Bill Bamberger, who appeared to be suffering from an attack of speech.

Bamberger arose and said: "Mr. President, as I stand here in this august presence."

"Better shut up," a don't know August from December," broke in Col. Bob Woodriddle, who carried Col. Bamberger's personal pulchritude.

The President rapped with a rapid rap and ordered the secretary to fine Col. Woodriddle a bag of popcorn—to be eaten by the chair at once, in his representative capacity, as a horrid example of swift punishment.

The corn was prepared and eaten with little delay, Col. Bamberger in the meanwhile proceeding with his speech.

"As I stand here in this august presence (looking upon Col. Woodriddle who sat dazed in his seat a look of pity) in the solemn hush of the century's dying hours, watching the sands of time in the hour-glass of eternity mark the death of a century and the dawn of a new cycle of time, I am very eased with."

At this point in the eloquent address, the venerable Col. J. O. Cooper arose to a question of personal privilege.

"Mr. President," he said, "I desire to be perfectly respectful to every member of this club, but the gentleman's funeral oration over the nineteenth century is ill-timed and premature. We are here tonight for business and pleasure combined and not to listen to a panegyric over the death of a century that still has a year to live. I move that Col. Bamberger postpone the remainder of his speech until next December, when it will be in season."

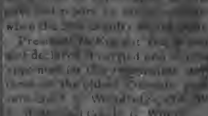

Before Col. Bamberger could utter a word in reply, Col. Ches W. took Col. Cooper off his feet with a motion to appoint a committee to investigate his sanity, advising: "We would like his right hand cut off for a moment that the club might know where it is tonight."

Then, without an understanding speech, he cast partial the room members began a series of sharp outbursts and the program in the assembly ended. After the meeting was over, the club members were gathered in the hall and the president of the club, Col. Bamberger, was seen to be in a state of great excitement.

PAID HEADED CLUB

Members Attend With Ex-Mr.
John McKee in the Chair.

Col. Bamberger, President of
How By Making a Speech a
Year Too Soon.

for the election of officers Saturday night at low midnight.

In the absence of both the President and Vice President, Col. Leavelle H. McKee was by general consent called to preside, as the senior ex-President present. The reappearance of Col. McKee in the chair so long delayed was the signal for an outburst of applause that shook up things worse than Fox-right's vote shook up the city administration last month.

Col. McKee acknowledged the compliment with one of those winning smiles of his, that began at the dimple between his double-chin and spread itself all over his jolly countenance, attached itself to his broad expanse of brow and face disappeared in the region of his neck collar-button.

He lost no time in calling the meeting to order, and at once recognized Col. Bill Bamberger, who appeared to be suffering from an attack of speech.

Bamberger arose and said: "Mr. President, as I stand here in this august presence."

"Better shut up," a don't know August from December," broke in Col. Bob Woodriddle, who carried Col. Bamberger's personal pulchritude.

The President rapped with a rapid rap and ordered the secretary to fine Col. Woodriddle a bag of popcorn—to be eaten by the chair at once, in his representative capacity, as a horrid example of swift punishment.

The corn was prepared and eaten with little delay, Col. Bamberger in the meanwhile proceeding with his speech.

"As I stand here in this august presence (looking upon Col. Woodriddle who sat dazed in his seat a look of pity) in the solemn hush of the century's dying hours, watching the sands of time in the hour-glass of eternity mark the death of a century and the dawn of a new cycle of time, I am very eased with."

At this point in the eloquent address, the venerable Col. J. O. Cooper arose to a question of personal privilege.

"Mr. President," he said, "I desire to be perfectly respectful to every member of this club, but the gentleman's funeral oration over the nineteenth century is ill-timed and premature. We are here tonight for business and pleasure combined and not to listen to a panegyric over the death of a century that still has a year to live. I move that Col. Bamberger postpone the remainder of his speech until next December, when it will be in season."

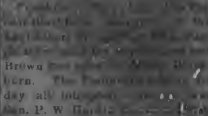

Before Col. Bamberger could utter a word in reply, Col. Ches W. took Col. Cooper off his feet with a motion to appoint a committee to investigate his sanity, advising: "We would like his right hand cut off for a moment that the club might know where it is tonight."

Then, without an understanding speech, he cast partial the room members began a series of sharp outbursts and the program in the assembly ended. After the meeting was over, the club members were gathered in the hall and the president of the club, Col. Bamberger, was seen to be in a state of great excitement.

PAID HEADED CLUB

Members Attend With Ex-Mr.
John McKee in the Chair.

Col. Bamberger, President of
How By Making a Speech a
Year Too Soon.

for the election of officers Saturday night at low midnight.

In the absence of both the President and Vice President, Col. Leavelle H. McKee was by general consent called to preside, as the senior ex-President present. The reappearance of Col. McKee in the chair so long delayed was the signal for an outburst of applause that shook up things worse than Fox-right's vote shook up the city administration last month.

Col. McKee acknowledged the compliment with one of those winning smiles of his, that began at the dimple between his double-chin and spread itself all over his jolly countenance, attached itself to his broad expanse of brow and face disappeared in the region of his neck collar-button.

He lost no time in calling the meeting to order, and at once recognized Col. Bill Bamberger, who appeared to be suffering from an attack of speech.

Bamberger arose and said: "Mr. President, as I stand here in this august presence."

"Better shut up," a don't know August from December," broke in Col. Bob Woodriddle, who carried Col. Bamberger's personal pulchritude.

The President rapped with a rapid rap and ordered the secretary to fine Col. Woodriddle a bag of popcorn—to be eaten by the chair at once, in his representative capacity, as a horrid example of swift punishment.

The corn was prepared and eaten with little delay, Col. Bamberger in the meanwhile proceeding with his speech.

"As I stand here in this august presence (looking upon Col. Woodriddle who sat dazed in his seat a look of pity) in the solemn hush of the century's dying hours, watching the sands of time in the hour-glass of eternity mark the death of a century and the dawn of a new cycle of time, I am very eased with."

At this point in the eloquent address, the venerable Col. J. O. Cooper arose to a question of personal privilege.

"Mr. President," he said, "I desire to be perfectly respectful to every member of this club, but the gentleman's funeral oration over the nineteenth century is ill-timed and premature. We are here tonight for business and pleasure combined and not to listen to a panegyric over the death of a century that still has a year to live. I move that Col. Bamberger postpone the remainder of his speech until next December, when it will be in season."

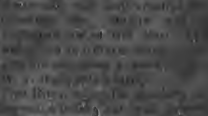

Before Col. Bamberger could utter a word in reply, Col. Ches W. took Col. Cooper off his feet with a motion to appoint a committee to investigate his sanity, advising: "We would like his right hand cut off for a moment that the club might know where it is tonight."

Then, without an understanding speech, he cast partial the room members began a series of sharp outbursts and the program in the assembly ended. After the meeting was over, the club members were gathered in the hall and the president of the club, Col. Bamberger, was seen to be in a state of great excitement.

PAID HEADED CLUB

Members Attend With Ex-Mr.
John McKee in the Chair.

Col. Bamberger, President of
How By Making a Speech a
Year Too Soon.

for the election of officers Saturday night at low midnight.

In the absence of both the President and Vice President, Col. Leavelle H. McKee was by general consent called to preside, as the senior ex-President present. The reappearance of Col. McKee in the chair so long delayed was the signal for an outburst of applause that shook up things worse than Fox-right's vote shook up the city administration last month.

Col. McKee acknowledged the compliment with one of those winning smiles of his, that began at the dimple between his double-chin and spread itself all over his jolly countenance, attached itself to his broad expanse of brow and face disappeared in the region of his neck collar-button.

He lost no time in calling the meeting to order, and at once recognized Col. Bill Bamberger, who appeared to be suffering from an attack of speech.

Bamberger arose and said: "Mr. President, as I stand here in this august presence."

"Better shut up," a don't know August from December," broke in Col. Bob Woodriddle, who carried Col. Bamberger's personal pulchritude.

The President rapped with a rapid rap and ordered the secretary to fine Col. Woodriddle a bag of popcorn—to be eaten by the chair at once, in his representative capacity, as a horrid example of swift punishment.

The corn was prepared and eaten with little delay, Col. Bamberger in the meanwhile proceeding with his speech.

"As I stand here in this august presence (looking upon Col. Woodriddle who sat dazed in his seat a look of pity) in the solemn hush of the century's dying hours, watching the sands of time in the hour-glass of eternity mark the death of a century and the dawn of a new cycle of time, I am very eased with."

At this point in the eloquent address, the venerable Col. J. O. Cooper arose to a question of personal privilege.

"Mr. President," he said, "I desire to be perfectly respectful to every member of this club, but the gentleman's funeral oration over the nineteenth century is ill-timed and premature. We are here tonight for business and pleasure combined and not to listen to a panegyric over the death of a century that still has a year to live. I move that Col. Bamberger postpone the remainder of his speech until next December, when it will be in season."

Before Col. Bamberger could utter a word in reply, Col. Ches W. took Col. Cooper off his feet with a motion to appoint a committee to investigate his sanity, advising: "We would like his right hand cut off for a moment that the club might know where it is tonight."

Then, without an understanding speech, he cast partial the room members began a series of sharp outbursts and the program in the assembly ended. After the meeting was over, the club members were gathered in the hall and the president of the club, Col. Bamberger, was seen to be in a state of great excitement.

Total THOS. W. LONG, JR.

---

Men who use their courage and after whom they need it.

---

To know your responsibility

JANUARY FORECAST.

What Cold Weather Predicted For This Month.

Below we give a summary of the weather for January, as forecasted by Rev. H. R. Hicks in Word and Works:

Warmer weather will set in during the opening days of January, the barometer will fall and storms of rain, turning to sleet and snow over wide sections, will visit most parts of the country from about the 3rd to the 6th. This will be followed by clearing, cold weather which will be felt very far into the South.

A regular storm period is central on the 9th, extending from the 7th to the 11th. By the time the cold wave following storms of the last period reaches the eastern seaboard, the barometer will begin falling and change to warmer will have set in to the far west. This change to growing storm conditions will gradually work eastward, until more rain and snow will result about the 9th to 11th.

Sudden and violent change to colder, close on the heels of warm weather and rains.

Another change to much colder may be expected immediately on the western flanks of low barometer and storms due about the 15th to 17th.

The next regular vulcan storm period extends from the 19th to 23rd, being central on the 21st. A general and sudden change to much warmer may be reasonably expected on and about this date. Winter lightning and thunder, especially southward, need not surprise any one during the first stages of this and other January periods, followed by violent and sudden change to great cold, high winds and blizzards. Protracted storms of rain, sleet and snow will most probably visit wide sections of this another continent, between Friday the 19th and Wednesday the 24th.

One of the greatest and widest cold waves of the winter will come out of the northwest behind the storms of this period. Ice cutters and dealers will reap much of their winter harvest during the days following this period.

A reaction to warmer, with falling barometer and more rain and snow, may be looked for on and next to the 26th and 27th. Very decided cold, generally, will be natural from about the 27th to 29th.

Rain and snow will result during the opening days of February.

The Venus period covers all of January, insuring same very dangerous extremes of temperature and barometric pressures. Intense cold will wind up the storm period, changing rains into sudden sleet storms and howling blizzards. All extremes of the country will test severe changes.

HERE AND THERE

— Dr. E. N. Fruit, Dentist, at the City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Wild Goose Linnæi at cure of malaria and neuritis. The drugstore.

For Sale—Scholarship in one of best business colleges in the South. Apply at this office.

J. A. Southall, physician and Surgeon, office over Hopper Bros' book store. Residence South Virginia street. Telephone 287.

A few boarders can secure good accommodation by applying at farmhouse east of L. & N. railroad, on Seventh street (north side).

Is not my girl? Sawberry at Respiratory pleurisy two times, so far you see me, I think I can save you money. I. F. Cotter, Box 650.

The annual reception of the As You Like It Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Long last evening from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Jean McKee gave a party Saturday evening and the future beaux and belles were largely represented.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morris gave a reception to the little children Friday evening and twenty or more of their little friends were present and enjoyed their hospitalities.

Have your clothes made, cleaned and repaired by Joe N. Fawright, Merchant Tailor, W. 7th street, opp. New Era office. The best of fitting and about as much as a practical tailor can do for you.

There seems to have been a mistake about the old address of the firm.

Said To Be Alive

The poisoning of the Thompson family of Thomas' Mt. Pleasant, Ky., four members of which were reported to have been badly poisoned by impure baking powder used in making buckwheat cakes, has been further investigated.

The original can with the remainder of the baking powder left over after mixing the cakes was secured by Dr. Critchfield. The powder had been bought at a neighboring country store, and was one of the low priced brands.

Dr. Critchfield said that the patients had the symptoms of alum poisoning. As the same kind of baking powder is sold in many city groceries, as well as country stores, Dr. Critchfield thought it important that a chemical examination should be made to determine its ingredients. He therefore transferred the package of powder to Dr. Schill, of this city, for analysis, who after a chemical examination has reported that the suspected powder contained alum.

Alum is used in the manufacture of the lower priced baking powder. It is a mineral poison, and for this reason the sale of baking powder containing it is in many cities prohibited.—Johnstown, Penn., Tribune.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Mrs. C. H. Hull, of Nashville, is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Minnie Davis is visiting friends in Evansville.

Miss Verna McGhee is visiting friends in Henderson.

Miss Patty Bartley has returned from a visit to relatives at Gracely. Herbert Fruit has gone to San Francisco, Cal., to engage in business.

Miss Ophelia Payne has returned from a visit to Mrs. Mike Griffin, at Paducah.

Mr. Clifton C. Ferrell and wife, of Oxford, Miss., are visiting Maj. and Mrs. Ferrell.

Mr. W. L. Blumberger has returned from a short visit to Nashville friends.

Jennie Killebrew, a colored woman whose home was near Pon, died Thursday night at the age of 24 years.

Mr. Morton Adcock, of Paducah, who spent last week with his sister, Mrs. W. H. Hall, near the city, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Ferguson, who have been spending the holidays with relatives in the city, returned Saturday to their home in Owensboro.

Mrs. W. A. Butler and her two little girls, Misses Lucretia and Elizabeth, returned from a visit to Mrs. W. L. Butler, Mrs. Butler's sister, at Chicago.

WORK HOUSE SENTENCE

John Smith, colored, charged with striking with a stone and wounding a white female servant, was sent to the workhouse Monday to serve six months.

THIRD PARTY CHARGED

Mr. Wallace Smith, deceased, of the New Era office, died one of his usual chronic ailments yesterday, and will not have any of his belongings out the door yet. His wife and son will be in the city and will discuss his body.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The First National Bank, in today's issue, printed a statement of its financial condition for the close of business Saturday, and the attention of our readers is called to same. That this banking institution is in a very thrifty and substantial condition is shown by the figures. Read them.

The City Bank

In today's KENTUCKIAN appears a statement of the condition of the City Bank at the close of business Dec. 30. This banking institution makes a most excellent showing and is in a flourishing condition, as the figures indicate. A perusal of same is suggested.

Bank of Hopkinsville

The statement of the above banking institution at the close of business Dec. 3, is presented to our readers for their interest, and a perusal of the same is invited. The Bank presents an excellent showing, having had a very prosperous business throughout the year. Read the statement and you will be convinced.

PRESTO, CHANGE!

Democratic City Officials Step Down and Out.

Independents and Republicans are Now Responsible For Municipal Affairs.

All of the new city officers elected last month entered upon their duties yesterday and the city government for the first time in ten years passed out of the control of the Democratic party.

The City Judge and Mayor, who hold on two years longer, are the only Democrats left except a few minor officials whose jobs were not spoken for when the pie was cut in December.

W. S. Elgin succeeds L. H. Davis as city clerk.

Jno. T. Edmunds succeeds M. F. Crenshaw as treasurer.

T. J. Tate, Republican, will succeed L. C. Cravens as tax collector, will have nothing to do until this year's taxes are due. Mr. Cravens will continue to collect up the back taxes.

G. E. Dalton, a straight Democrat, succeeds Geo. Bradley, Democrat, as assessor, though his duties will not begin until April. He was elected without being a candidate for the place.

B. J. Mathews became Chief of Police, vice E. H. Armstrong and with the exception of I. B. Morris all of the old policemen went out. They were T. L. Smith, J. M. Cravens, D. F. Myers, J. B. Narce and G. W. V. Lander. The new men are Harvey McCord and E. B. Wilkins, Republicans, Geo. W. Walker, Democrat, and John Byrnes, N. P. Fears, Democrat, declined to qualify and a new man will be elected Friday night. It is also said that two additional men may also be chosen at the same time.

City Teamster Lee Morris was one of the very few Democrats left in.

Sexton Roake was re-elected but

HAVE

YOU

Any More

HOGS

To KILL?

IF SO,

BRING

US

YOUR

SAUSAGE

and BONES.

We Will Pay You Good Prices.

W. T. COOPER & CO.

Wholesale Grocers and Retail

-CHRISTMAS-
-AT-

FORBES & BRO'S

We have no toys, no firecrackers to offer you, but below we have listed a few articles that will both please the recipient and reflect credit on the giver.

THEY ARE MARKED LOW
AND WE GUARANTEE
THEY WILL PLEASE.

Carving Sets,
Rodgers' Silver Knives and Forks,
Handsome Fire Sets,
Fine Lap Robes,
Rodgers & Wostenholm Pocket Knives
Nickle Coffee and Tea Pots,
Banquet and Swinging Lamps,
Colts and Smith & Weston Pistols,
Black Powder
and White Powder Shells,
Whips, Saddles,
all kinds of Table Cutlery.

FORBES & BRO.

Holiday Goods

-IN-

Endless Varieties . . .

OHIO

Every style and price in Salad Bowls, Cake Plates, Comb and Brush Trays and everything in FANCY CHINA. Our line

VASES

Is the handsomest in the town. Large line to select from. Goods packed for shipment FREE.

THOMPSON & BATSETT

Monuments.

It is nonsense to believe that you can buy of some agent a cheap one from your own shop, when you get the best marble and granite at the lowest possible price. If you will call and see our work and get our prices you will find yourself well paid for the trouble. Yours truly,

ROBT. H. BROWN,

710 and 712 Main Street, Nashville, Tenn.

resigned and this vacancy is to be filled. A proper successor to Mr. Roake will be hard to find.

L. T. Atkinson succeeds Geo. E. Randle as Chief of the Fire Department with an entire new force, except E. H. Roper and James Westera, who escaped in the general slaughter.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

Chicago and Nashville Limited Wrecked at Terre Haute.

The Chicago and Nashville limited was wrecked at Terre Haute, Ind., Friday night. The engine, tender and two coaches jumped the track, but luckily no one was killed or injured. The damage was heavy however. Traffic was delayed for several hours and the train was four hours late in passing here.

Planters' Insurance Co.

(INCORPORATED)
Bowling Green, Ky.
D. V. WRIGHT, President.
P. C. JESSIE, Sec'y.
DR. JNO. D. WOODS, Vice-President.
RON. J. D. CLARKE, Director.

This is a cooperative company, incorporated under the laws of the State of Kentucky. It carries ten counties.

Insures Only Farm Property.

There are hundreds of cooperative companies now doing business in this State; the average time they have been running is seventeen years. It has been demonstrated by those companies that the farmer can combine with his neighbors and protect each other against fire, lightning and wind for about half as much as is now being charged by other companies. For more information and references, call on J. B. WALKER, Agt., Hopkinsville, Ky. or J. B. WALKER, Agt., Paducah, Ky.